France Asks U. S. For Reciprocity

Indicates That This Will Be the Only Acceptable Basis for a Tariff Treaty Between the Countries.

Paris, Sept. 15 (AP).—France asks the United States for reciprocity in the complete sense of the word as the only acceptable basis for a tariff treaty between the two countries.

In a note replying to American representations concerning the new French tariff schedule, the French Foreign Office today set forth the French conception of reciprocity as the condition for entering upon fruitful negotiation of a tariff treaty.

Nothing less than the present high rates in force are offered until the American reply to this note shall be received. When a reply from the United States is received that the American Government is ready to begin such discussions then the French Government will substitute for the present scale a modified schedule giving American goods considerably lower rates but not up to the limit of those granted to countries with which France has commercial treaties, notably Germany. So far as known Germany was not specifically mentioned, but that was the effect of this paragraph of the French reply.

The impression in both French and American circles was that the note was simply the first step in opening what are likely to be prolonged treaty negotiations. In the ministry of commerce the feeling apparently was general that such an agreement could not be concluded in less than three or four months.

The note, which was not made public but was immediately cabled to Washington, was handed to Sheldon Whitehouse, American chargé d'affaires, who called at the foreign office by appointment. He was met by M. Arnauld, a high official in the economic department, who delivered the note of three typewritten pages, explaining verbally some of the features of the reply.

Bandit at Delhi Murder Suspect

John Duffy Is Suspected of Being Wanted for a Murder at Hoboken—Willing to Plead Guilty To Hold Up.

Detectives from Bergen county, New Jersey, were at Delhi Tuesday interviewing District Attorney O'Connor and Sheriff Austin in regard to the three bandits, who held up the lively stables at Fleischmanns on September 4 and were later caught by State Troopers and Deputy Sheriffs at Mt. Tremper. One of the men caught, John Duffy, 25, is suspected of being wanted for a murder at Hoboken, N. J., a short time ago. It is also supposed that one of the men who escaped the police, and made off with a stolen car here after escaping from the Troopers at Mt. Tremper during the shooting, match in which the three were captured, is also wanted for the same murder. Identification will be made positive through examination of finger prints.

Duffy is said to be willing to plead guilty to the hold up at Fleischmanns in order to escape being taken back to New Jersey to stand trial on a charge of murder. However should a final check-up on finger prints indicate that Duffy is the man wanted for the murder at Hoboken he will be sent there first and tried on the murder charge.

The name given by the man who committed the murder was John Duffy but it is said his true name is John Bolaszak.

No trace of the two men who shot their way to freedom and made off with E. Otis Van Aken's car has been found. The car was found abandoned at Albany the morning after it was taken from the City Garage after the night man had been rendered unconscious.

Justice Taft Seventy Years Old

Thinks the World Is Growing Better But Not So Rapidly As Many People Think—Whole Family Is With Him.

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who is seventy years old today, in a telephone conversation from his summer home in Murray Bay, Canada, with Martin Green of the New York Evening World, said he believes the world is growing better, but not so rapidly as many people think.

"I am an optimist," he said. "We must be content to keep close steps between our ideals."

The chief justice sent a message of "most grateful appreciation" for the "boundless messages of good will" he had received on his birthday.

"I am very grateful that my three children and their wives and husbands are with me and Mrs. Taft at Murray Bay for this occasion—and my ten grandchildren," said the former president.

Mrs. Coolidge's Smile Helped

Superior, Wis., Sept. 15 (AP).—The smile of the first lady of the land was what helped Rolf Lium, student pastor, overcome his nervousness as he preached a sermon each Sunday in the little white church at Hermosa, with the president and his wife in the congregation.

Lium, who is visiting here, said that each Sunday he was nervous as he mounted to the pulpit.

"Mrs. Coolidge's smile every Sunday was a great help to me. No matter how often I preached when the president came to church, I always had to overcome a slight nervousness and the wonderful smile steadied me."

Plan to Heat City Building

Mayor Dempsey Busy Today Arranging to Have the Rooms in the Municipal Building Heated the Coming Winter—Many Offices in Building.

Mayor E. J. Dempsey was busy at the Municipal Building on East O'Reilly street this morning making arrangements for heating the various rooms in the building. At the present time the only rooms heated are those used for police headquarters and the city clerk's office.

In addition to the boilers located in the building it is planned to use the boiler on the city steam roller this winter to furnish the heat to the city engineer's office and the board of public works. Other rooms to be heated are the city court room.

The work of installing heat will be done as economically as possible. At the time of the city hall fire last June the city was fortunate in having buildings which were large enough to accommodate the various city departments that had been housed in the city hall.

The Central Fire Station, which now houses the offices of the board of health, city assessor and city treasurer, is already provided with facilities for heating the entire building, but the Municipal Building next door lacks the proper facilities, which makes it necessary to arrange for heating the departments housed there.

FIND BODY OF MAN FLOATING IN HUDSON

Railroad workers discovered the body of a man floating in the Hudson river at Hudson Tuesday about 3:30 p. m. and notified two fishermen, who towed it to shore. Coroner William Finley ordered the body, which was in a decomposed state owing to its five or six months' stay in the river, to be taken to a mortuary chapel in Hudson.

The identity of the man, who was white and apparently 40 years of age, could not be determined by articles found in the pockets of his clothing. A key to which a tag was attached, indicated it was the property of the Hudson Navigation Co., and that the man evidently occupied a room on the Albany-New York night boat. Among property found in his pockets was a small mirror, a sum of money in a paper bag, a check on a bank in New York, and a small identification card which indicated that the man was a member of the Hudson River Fishermen's Association.

STILL HUNTING FOR WAGNER, ALLEGED MURDERER

Cornwall, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP).—The hunt for Wilmer Leroy Wagner, alleged murderer of two State Troopers at Canandaigua last week, was renewed with increased vigor this morning at Addison where 25 troopers, county and village officers, bent every effort to catch the fugitive believed to be in that vicinity.

An Italian woman reported Tuesday that her life was threatened by a man answering the description of Wagner when she discovered him in her barn. He beat a retreat into the woods and since that time searching parties have been unable to find trace of him. A captain, two lieutenants and 25 troopers led the hunt today with many Addison civilians joining in the search.

Highland Grocer Shot to Death

Angelo Sinagra Is Murdered in New York City By Unknown Assassin—Brother Knew of No Quarrel—Search By The Police Proves Futile.

Angelo Sinagra, aged 34 years, who ran a grocery and fruit store in Highland, was shot and killed by an unknown assailant in New York city Wednesday. His brother, waiting for him in a truck, standing at the curbstone in front of the doorway, was but a few feet away from the scene of the tragedy.

Sinagra came to New York in his truck Tuesday evening, for the dual purpose of disposing of a load of furniture and of meeting his brother, Filippo, who also runs a grocery and fruit store at New Paltz. After meeting his brother the victim drove to 215 Elizabeth street at the corner of Prince street, where Angelo got out to pay a bill for some spaghetti he had purchased. He disappeared within the building and returned after a short time. When he stepped from the doorway of the building a man accosted him and the two talked for a few minutes.

According to Filippo, his brother called to him to wait a minute that the man wanted to talk to him. Hardly had the men disappeared into the hallway, when Filippo heard three shots, then the voice of his brother calling for help. When he picked Angelo up he was unable to tell who shot him and he died shortly afterward.

A search by the police in the neighborhood proved futile as the layout of the vicinity rendered the escape of the murderer easy.

A search of the truck revealed a double-barreled shotgun, without cartridges and a .35 caliber revolver. No cartridges were found with the weapon, but one which fitted it was found in the pocket of the dead man. Filippo knew of no quarrel between his brother and any other person.

Seeks Damages For Dog's Death

Ellenville Dog Fancier Wants to Recover From Owners of Truck Which Struck and Killed One of His Dogs—County Court Will Recess Until Monday.

Henry Wilhelm, Ellenville dog fancier, seeks to recover from Nicholas Russett and Bert H. Wood of Ellenville, damages for the loss of a hunting dog which was killed when struck by a motor truck owned by the two defendants who do business under a partnership in the village of Ellenville. The case is being tried in county court.

According to the story as it was told by the witnesses for the plaintiff the Wilhelm dog, a fox hound, was accompanying the two Wilhelm children to school on May 5, 1927. The children were on the sidewalk, the dog was in the road. Just prior to the dog being hit it had attempted to cross the road when a car coming up the road caused it to halt in the road near the middle. After that car had passed the dog turned and was struck by the truck which was coming from the other direction. The dog was on its left hand side of the road near the center, according to one of the witnesses for the plaintiff.

The plaintiff contends that the dog was rightfully on the highway and that it was exercising all precaution required at the time of the accident while the truck was being operated in a reckless and negligent manner.

The defendants contend that the dog was not exercising ordinary precaution but ran from behind one car suddenly in front of the truck and that it was impossible to avoid the accident.

Mr. Wilhelm, who is a dog fancier, said the dog had been bought by him when it was seven months old and that he paid $50 for it. It was an excellent hunter and was eligible to be registered. It was 2½ years old and he considered it a valuable dog. He is a carpenter and was not at home at the time of the accident.

C. A. Hornbeek appears for plaintiff and Vernon Kelder appears for Judge William D. Cunningham, counsel for the defendants.

At the conclusion of the case court will recess until Monday morning, September 19 at 10 o'clock, to which time jurors were excused.

The authorities are investigating.

Plan Campaign In City to Wipe Out Diphtheria

Free Series of Clinics Will be Held in State Armory—Parent-Teacher Associations to Assist in Campaign of Education—First Clinic September 23.

Plans are being made by Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, in an effort to wipe out diphtheria among the children in Kingston, and the first of a series of free clinics where children may be immunized from the disease will be held in the state armory on Friday afternoon, September 23.

Another meeting of the officers and members of the Parent-Teacher Associations of the city will be held with Dr. Connelly on Monday, when plans for making a house to house canvass will be inaugurated.

Dr. Connelly is making it plain that there are no after effects from the use of toxin-antitoxin, and that it has no effect upon the heart or the general physical condition of the child.

In speaking of the drive against diphtheria that is to be inaugurated here, Dr. Connelly said that 60 per cent of all deaths from diphtheria occur in children under five years of age. He said that a child under six months of age is, as a rule, immune from the disease. The important period in a child's life is from six months to five years of age. The next important period is from five years to 10 years of age.

Dr. Connelly said that according to the investigation made by the state health department, the most cases of the disease occur among children from 5 to 10 years old, and the most deaths among children under five years old.

Parents will be visited by volunteer workers from the various Parent-Teacher Associations of the city and asked to send their children to the clinics to have the children immunized from the disease.

Dr. Connelly is now working on plans for getting the children to the clinics, and an intensive campaign will be inaugurated within the next few days.

FANNIE BRICE OBTAINS DIVORCE FROM ARNSTEIN

Chicago, Sept. 15 (AP).—One of the things that seemed to perturb Judge Otto Kerner yesterday before finally granting Fannie Brice's petition to divorce Jules "Nick" Arnstein, was how the comedienne intended to support her two children without financial help from their father.

"I work," said Miss Brice.

"What is your business or profession?" the court inquired.

Miss Brice seemed aback and gave the monosyllabic answer: "Actress."

"How long have you been engaged in this profession?"

"Oh, judge," the comedienne replied, "about 20 years."

"Do you contemplate any trouble getting engagements?"

"Who can tell? The fickle public, you know."

Miss Brice, who charged her husband with infidelity, laughed as she gave this response, but there were tears in her eyes.

Arnstein was not in court, but was represented by counsel. Although not asked for alimony, Arnstein said by his counsel to have waived his interest on the community property, including a Long Island summer home.

Miss Brice charged from the stand that she found Arnstein with another woman in a Chicago hotel a short time ago, hotel employees corroborating her story. Arnstein did not oppose the divorce, agreeing with his wife that it was best for their happiness. Both insisted that they still love each other "and always will."

HUDSON BASEBALL POOL HEADS FINED $500 EACH

Pleas of guilty to an amended indictment, charging sale of lottery tickets in a baseball pool, were entered by August Meyer, Frank Donohue and William F. Buchanan of Albany and Michael C. Hannon of Hudson in county court at Hudson Wednesday and they were fined $500 each. The fines were paid and bonds of $1,000 posted a year ago were refunded.

The original indictment, on which the men were to have faced trial today, charged violation of the penal code section prohibiting "conducting, assisting or drawing a lottery," a felony which carries a penalty of two years in jail or $1,000 fine or both.

District Attorney Thomas Cookingham, following a conference with defense counsel before the opening of court, announced when the case was called the defendants had agreed to plead guilty to the amended charge, constituting a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $500.

The following day the automobile was restored to the garage. The hearing had been adjourned several times and this morning when it came up in police court the charge was withdrawn and Carney discharged.

Miss Elder Ready for Flight

Florida Girl Determined to be First Woman to Fly Across Atlantic—Will Start Sunday if Weather Permits.

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—A pretty 22-year-old girl fier who talked laughingly of the adventure in which ten persons have disappeared today was at the starting point of her projected flight to Paris, eager to be the first woman to cross the Atlantic by airplane.

Miss Ruth Elder of Lakeland, Fla., swooped down from the sky at Roosevelt Field last evening with her co-pilot, Captain George Halderman, after covering 420 miles from Wheeling, W. Va., and immediately began final preparations for taking off on her 3,610 mile flight across the sea Sunday morning.

"We have everything ready to leave Sunday except the weather," she said. "Gas bought, runway ready, plane dandy, pilots O. K. Give us a weather break and we'll take off then."

"I've been dreaming and planning this ever since I first learned to fly two years ago. Then Lindbergh did it, and I was more determined. I want to be the first girl to turn the trick. I'll do it—I and Captain Halderman."

Her auburn bobbed hair was swept by the winds at the flying field and her large gray eyes sparkled in vivacious confidence as she aviatix reeled off details on her monoplane, the Stinson-Detroit American Girl. "She weighs 5,500 pounds loaded, 2,050 empty and will carry about 500 gallons of gas. She'll cruise about 4,500 miles. I figure about 100 miles an hour or a bit better as a cruising speed."

The American Girl is driven by a 200 horsepower Wright whirlwind engine, and is a duplicate of the Sir John Carling, which vanished in mid-ocean; the round the world plane Pride of Detroit, and the Royal Windsor, whose trans-Atlantic flight has been abandoned.

Round the World Flight Called Off

Schlee and Brock Bitterly Disappointed As They Yield to Advice and Pleadings of Their Friends—Will Come Home by Boat.

Tokyo, Sept. 15 (AP).—Public opinion and the pleading of loved ones at home brought to an end the round-the-world flight of the monoplane Pride of Detroit here today.

Edward F. Schlee and Walter S. Brock, co-pilots of the craft that set out from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on August 27, to beat the record on circling the earth, feared no danger or obstacle that fate or the elements could offer them. They braved storms, heat and erratic tropical winds. They were delayed by government formalities in Turkey and flew over war-torn China and the jungles of Burma, and Slam. They went through a typhoon and tidal wave in Japan unscathed and showed up at Kasumi-gaura in a rainstorm smiling. At Tokyo they were told by aviation authorities and their own agent, J. V. Walker, that it would be suicidal to attempt to fly across the Pacific ocean. Still they persisted.

Then the fliers began to read the scores of cablegrams that had come for them in care of the American Embassy. These contained threats, warnings, advice and applications against making the Pacific hop. Among them was one from the Schlee children of Detroit asking their father to consider them before he tried to fly over the Pacific. He weakened. Brock emerged from a lengthy conference on the subject downcast and Schlee emerged in tears and announced the flight was off.

Brock and Schlee will sail from Tokyo next Saturday for San Francisco. The Pride of Detroit will be placed in the hold of the ship. The disappointed aviators will at least fly back to their home, from San Francisco. They have advised their relatives by cable of their decision.

"This is one of the greatest disappointments of my life," said Schlee, "but we could not fight public opinion, which is unanimously against us. Everything was with us up to date and it was my life's ambition to make this round-the-world flight. But apparently everybody in America is against it. We have received so many cablegrams we are unable to read them all. Naturally we can't fight the entire public, but some day, if I live, I intend to complete my round-the-world air trip."

Brock said: "If there is any gloomier man in the world than I am I don't know where he is. We quit because apparently the entire world is fighting us. I am absolutely sure we could have completed the flight via Midway and Honolulu if we had any cooperation. We ordered 1,600 gallons of gas and 100 gallons of oil shipped from Honolulu to Midway but the shipment was not made. What can you do? We are up against it. Consequently there is nothing to do but go home by boat."

At the hospital this morning it was stated that the lad's condition was fairly good. He sustained a broken right leg between the thigh and knee, and a badly lacerated mouth, ear and temple. According to Mr. Rose's report of the accident the boy stepped from behind an automobile directly in front of his car as he was driving through Delaware avenue. The accident occurred near Newkirk avenue.

Isadora Duncan Killed in France

Famous Dancer's Life Ended in Tragedy—End of Her Scarcely Comes Entangled in Front Wheel of Car and She Is Killed Instantly.

Nice, France, Sept. 15 (AP).—Isadora Duncan's adventurous life has ended in tragedy.

A sliver of red—the color of which she was fond, and which seems to have symbolized her radicalism—flickered about the neck of the dancer as she sped along the Promenade des Anglais last night in her new car. With her was a French chauffeur, who was going to teach her to drive, and Mrs. Mary Desto, Perks, British newspaper woman, who was helping her prepare her memoirs for publication.

The end of the long scarf whipped over the side of the car, became entangled in the front wheel and jerked the dancer from her seat. The chauffeur jammed on the brakes and he and Mrs. Perks disengaged the scarf from the limp body. They drove frantically to the St. Roch Hospital but in vain. The doctors said her neck was broken and that death must have been instantaneous.

The body was taken back to the dancer's studio. Today the funeral arrangements were being made by Mrs. Perks and Miss Duncan's old friend, Paris Singer, of the sewing machine family.

PROSECUTOR WILL CHARGE NURSE WITH MURDER.

Enid, Okla., Sept. 15 (AP).—Held without charge for a week during investigation of the death of Mary Jane Bailey, 15-year-old minister's daughter, Mary Atkinson, nurse who attended the girl, today waited action by County Attorney Dan Mitchell, who announced he would file a charge of murder against her.

A pathological report showing poison in the viscera of Mary Jane and discovery of a drug in a hypodermic syringe of a type not used at the hospital where the girl died, brought the announcement from the county attorney that he would prosecute the 26-year-old nurse.

Miss Atkinson, described by the Rev. Charles Bailey, Episcopal pastor and father of the dead girl, as a friend of the family who had lived with them for years, has repeatedly denied any knowledge of mysterious events leading up to the girl's death, or of similar circumstances in the fatal illness of the pastor's wife. Mrs. Bailey died about three weeks ago, shortly before Mary Jane and four other Bailey children became ill. All showed symptoms of ptomaine poison, physicians said.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP).—With one prisoner under arrest here and another at Erie, Pa., the search for members of the bandit gang which staged a $15,000 payroll holdup in that city on September 2 was centered in Buffalo today. Anthony Palmastro, 29, has been taken into custody here at the request of Erie authorities on a warrant charging robbery in the first degree.

Four men were in the holdup gang. They covered a paymaster and guard of the Erie Electric Company with revolvers and forced the company employee to hand over a bag containing the payroll.

Roles Assigned Kiwanis Kapers

Box Office Busy Making Reservations for Patronage—Out of Town Patronage Assured—Keen Interest Aroused.

That Box Office will be a subject that will speak and tell for itself, called "Dramatic Moments," that the Bathing Beauty Contest is attracting a keen interest from day to day, that a number called "A Story from an Old Family Album" has a quartet of male voices that will surprise Kingston listeners, that delegations from Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Haverhill, Catskill and other adjoining communities are increasing in number and that the box office at the Broadway Theatre is already busy in making reservations for seats and especially for Monday night are the new features gleamed from an attendance at the rehearsal on Tuesday evening for Kiwanis Kapers.

Miss Margaret L. Richards has been assigned the important role of Texas Gumm for the big closing feature, "The Night Club," Nicholas Murphy, a juvenile, with the chorus are putting the finishing touches on an unusual rendition of the old "Mary Lou." Art Pennington will do a blackface specialty as a waiter. The list of musical numbers that are a part of the closing feature has a wide variety of melody, harmony and rhythm interspersed with pleasing and novel dancing acts.

The chorus sang last night with gestures. This feature was done in an entirely new way indicating that even ensemble singing may be made more effective than with the voices alone.

All the parts have been assigned and intensive training is the order of the hour. That every individual member of the cast is striving to do his or her utmost and that behind this effort is efficient directing of Charles L. Adams, in probably an usual effort to make this initial venture a success, is promising of an entertainment of unusual and high class order when the curtain rises for the first performance on Monday evening at the Broadway Theatre.

Tokyo, Sept. 15 (AP).—About 400 bodies have been recovered from the western part of the Island of Kiushiu which was struck by a typhoon and huge tidal wave on Tuesday.

LINCOLN TOMB 500 FEET HIGH

Monument at Springfield with Beacon for Aviators is Suggested

Springfield, Ill.—A Lincoln tomb and monument 500 feet high, to be surmounted with a powerful searchlight which would serve as a beacon for aviators in Illinois, has been suggested in a carefully worked out plan by Herbert Wells Fay, custodian of the Lincoln tomb and monument here.

Fay's plan would put to an end a charge that the state has been unappreciative of its great statesman as far as building a suitable memorial for him is concerned.

Fay asserts that the present memorial is sadly in need of repairs and entirely inadequate, considering the prodigious increase in the number of tourists who visit it daily. In its place he suggests the construction of a 500-foot monument which would be visible for 25 miles, to serve as the air traffic beacon.

Statue 200 Feet High.

Fay's carefully worked out scheme calls for a competition between architects for a gigantic statue of the emancipator 200 feet in height mounted on a base 300 feet high. The structure would be surmounted by a powerful searchlight to make it visible, at night, especially to air pilots.

The grounds owned by the state, totaling nine acres, are adequate for such a monument, according to Fay. Around the base it would be possible to build a memorial hall to match the proportions of the monument and accommodate Lincoln memorials.

The present tomb and monument were erected in 1874 at a cost of $350,000. The memorial at Washington completed a few years ago cost nearly $3,000,000.

Fay, in presenting his suggestion, declares that 400 people visit Lincoln's shrine daily whereas five years ago the number each week hardly equaled that. Last year 150,000 tourists signed the register at the tomb, whereas in 1920 but 30,000 signatures were attached. It is claimed that recent works on the life of Lincoln, coupled with a general increase in tourist travel in the Middle West, accounts for the increase.

Outlines His Plan.

Fay, in describing his plan for the monument and memorial, says:

"Make three circles of rooms. On the outer wall arrange to record the principal events in Lincoln's life, especially from the cradle until he went to Washington. In frames on the walls and in show cases put pictures of every spot he ever visited, letters and speeches he wrote, things he said, stories he told, friends, documents and mementoes he made. A symmetrical arrangement of all these would give a patriotic thrill to every visitor, American or foreign.

In this exhibit could be shown a copy of every letter, speech, survey or document he made in chronological order. Pictures of every person mentioned and place visited could be shown. There could be shown all publications about Lincoln, authors of books, photos of the scenes and everything. Make it answer every question asked about Lincoln. Have every county of the state represented.

"In the center circle reproduce his birthplace, probably exact size, showing its surroundings. Build in miniature the contour of the country and make it show all the places he frequented in Kentucky.

"Then in the next room faithfully reproduce the Indiana home and vicinity. In adjoining rooms of the center circle show a miniature of the Decatur home of Thomas Lincoln, the Coles county home, and reproduce the New Salem log cabin village. One room could be devoted to the Black Hawk war, showing the contour of each county traveled.

"Rooms could be set aside showing Vandalia, the campaign for congress, Lincoln-Douglas debates, battles of the Civil war, the assassination and funeral. Another room could be set aside to the Lincoln memorials erected in his honor.

"The inner circle of rooms next to the base of the statue could be devoted to a display of paintings of Lincoln, scenes of his life depicted in sculpture and photographs."

Blow Torch Enlisted

in War on Fruit Pest

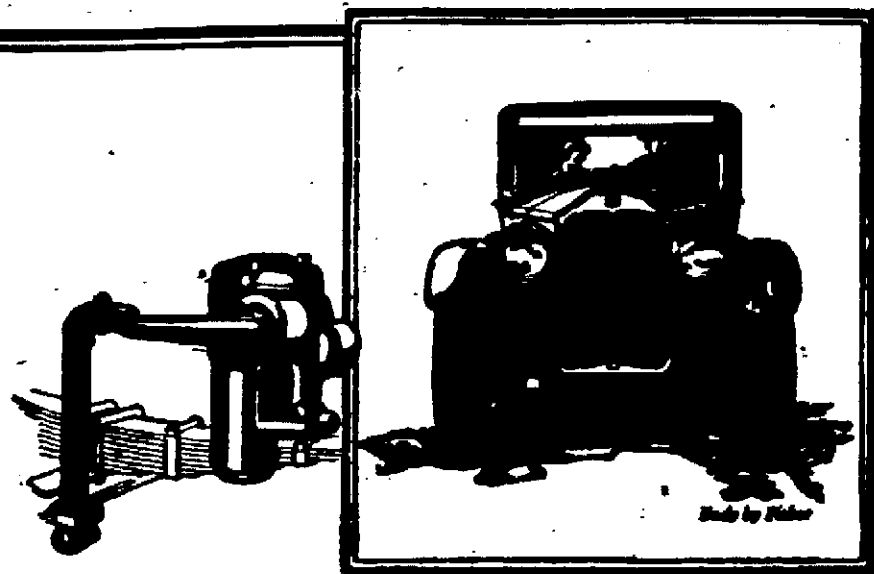

Lansing, Mich.—The state orchard and nursery inspection department has adopted a new method of roguing diseased raspberry plants. The inspectors are using a specially designed oil-burning blow torch to kill the plants.

Use of the torch has resulted from discoveries by Michigan State college entomologists that the germs of such virus diseases as mosaic, curl, streak and wilt are carried from diseased plants to healthy stock by aphids. Under the old method of roguing with grub hoes, it was observed that the aphids fell to the ground and migrated to healthy plants.

By using the torch to kill the plant before removal the state inspectors also are killing the insects before they have an opportunity to migrate to healthy plants.

E. C. Manderberg, chief of the inspection service, advises growers to have their raspberry plantations inspected by the state, which employs trained men to do the work.

Kiwanis Kapers Not a Minstrel

Big Show a Musical Revue With the Latest and Best Hits in the Minstrel Comedy Line.

Information has come to the members of the Kiwanis Club on Kiwanis Kapers to be given on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week at the Broadway theatre, that the impression has been made that the benefit performance for the needy and underprivileged children of Ulster county is to be the usual minstrel show. This is not the case.

The show is not a minstrel but is a musical revue with all the best and latest as well as many original features of this modern musical comedy line. The experience of Kiwanis Clubs and other service organizations that have sponsored the Harry Miller Producing Company's productions under the directorship of Charles L. Adams, has been that, until the first performance has been given for the first time in a community, the effort has been under-rated.

A casual glance at the newspaper articles that have appeared in connection with these shows given in other communities recently and for some years back, will reveal the fact that in every case the community has been surprised at the quality and character of the show and that all preconceived notions of the show being an ordinary amateur production have been shattered. The New Britain Lion's Club has repeated four years with ever increasing support of the community. Niagara Falls, after the initial show of less than a year ago, indicated by the trend of newspaper comments that not only was the show a revelation as to what was the real character of the local talent, but also that as a community, it was anxious for a repetition as soon as possible. News articles from Meriden, Conn., Gloversville, N. Y., and other communities, indicate the same reaction. The show ran for a week in Buffalo.

At the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis Club, at The Governor Clinton (on Thursday) today the attention of the members was of necessity entirely occupied with the show of next week. The reports on sale of tickets showed a gratifying advance disposal.

Arrangements have been made so that tickets can be procured in the drug stores. Charles L. Adams, who is directing the show, was a guest, and indicated that the character of talent for Kingston's show was the best and promised that the universal support of the community would be more than justified when the curtain falls on the final performance.

Captures Men Who Robbed Her

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—The capture of two young men who had chloroformed and robbed her of $1,600 in cash and jewelry in an upper Broadway hotel Saturday, was credited by police today to Miss Cordie Harvey, 25, daughter of a Rhode Island, Va., blacksmith.

Going without sleep for almost three days, the girl beat the city with detectives, visiting tenderloin districts and inspecting the rogues' gallery at Police Headquarters, before she disguised herself and picked out one youth in Pennsylvania Terminal, and another on a street corner in "Hell's Kitchen."

Edward Kelly, 22, and Paul Jefferies, 23, both waiters, were accused of inducing the girl, in New York on a vacation, to visit a room in the Hotel Martique to meet a fictitious couple who would assist in making her stay in the city pleasant. Police said she visited alone a Broadway restaurant where she had seen one of the men before the robbery and on the pretense that she was the man's sweetheart, secured from a waiter the address of a tenderloin speakeasy where clues to the identity of the youths were obtained. Both youths were held for hearing.

Belgium Denied Seat in Council

Geneva, Sept. 15 (AP).—The assembly of the League of Nations voted today that Belgium was not eligible at the present time for re-election as a non-permanent member of the league council.

Belgium, Salvador and Czechoslovakia were elected last year for one year terms under the new general system of election, one provision of which is that non-permanent members could be re-elected when their term expired provided the assembly by a three-quarter vote declared them eligible.

Belgium received 29 votes today, with 19 against, this being tantamount to defeat for re-election. Foreign Minister Vandervelde, the Belgian representative, said that he considered that the votes against Belgium's candidacy were inspired by considerations of principle and not by unfriendliness for his country. He pledged Belgium's loyal support of the league as heretofore.

Heroine of Sea Stories Drowned

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 15 (AP).—Mary Manning, 34, sister of Captain A. E. Dingle, sea story writer, was lost at sea off Nantucket last week, it was learned here today. Captain Dingle, accompanied by his sister, who was his "crew," was on one of the voyages which form the basis for most of his tales of the sea, when the tragedy occurred.

While cruising along in a heavy sea, the "Gauntlet," Captain Dingle's craft, struck the partially submerged wreck of a boat and the steering gear snapped, swinging the craft around with such suddenness that Miss Manning was thrown into the sea. Her body sank immediately and did not reappear.

Miss Manning was the heroine of many of Captain Dingle's stories and in "Wide Waters" was referred to by name.

Walker Can't Be Dignified

Paris, Sept. 15 (AP).—"They call me the jazz mayor, they say I ain't dignified enough," said Mayor Walker, at the Anglo-American Press Association luncheon at which he was the guest Wednesday.

A hush of silence fell among the Anglo-American newspapermen. They were wondering what "Jimmy" had in mind.

"I have been received by the highest honoraries of many cities," the mayor continued, "but this is really home. This is really the United States. How in hell can one be dignified in these surroundings? Now you make the most of this."

The French newspapermen cheered.

Banqueted Before Going to Atlanta

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP).—Fire councilmen of Homestead, a Pittsburgh suburb, were each sentenced by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today to serve a year and a day in the Atlanta penitentiary upon charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. Two other men, alleged bootleggers, were given fifteen months each in the federal prison.

A farewell banquet was held last night for the borough officials, President Edward Klein, George McLaughlin, Samuel T. Morgan, John H. Richards and James L. Oates.

Elected to League Council

Geneva, Sept. 15 (AP).—Canada, Cuba and Finland today were elected to fill the three vacant non-permanent seats on the council of the League of Nations for three years' terms.

CIVILIZATION.

The nearer we come to that big pugilistic contest in Chicago, the more we appreciate the marvelous benefits of modern civilization. Scores of thousands will go to that fight in automobiles, electric cars, railroad trains, steamships and airplanes. Millions will hear by radio the roars of the crowd, the voices from the ring and perhaps even the thud of blows. Pictures of the fighters in action will be sent to the far corners of the land over wires and through the ether, for reproduction in the next day's papers. Movie films will reproduce the contest before the eyes of multitudes, the world over, for years to come. Who says there is no such thing as progress, when all the world can participate in a prize fight?

NORMAL PROSPERITY.

Business records for the present year, available so far, should interest everybody who is interested in prosperity. They are unexpected in some ways. Industrial concerns, with the big exceptions of United States Steel and General Motors, have not been making so much as last year—about 10 per cent less. Railroads have made a little less profit than last year. But public utilities generally have made 12 per cent more profit than last year. For this last class of enterprise, it is apparently the best year on record. On the whole, says a business reviewer, "this year's results are unsatisfactory only when compared with the liberal returns reported last year—which was a record year—and it might be fair to regard this year's profits as about normal." The fall months have yet to be heard from. The final result may be better than normal. But the normal, in this country, especially since the war, is nothing to scorn. No other nation can come anywhere near it.

THE PROHIBITIVE COMPLEX.

Writing on "Prohibitions" in the Yale Review, Dr. Stewart Paton, the Princeton psychiatrist and neurobiologist, says that "we are obsessed with an insane desire to prohibit, to forbid the ownership of private property, the teaching of evolution, the right to be sane and temperate, or to be considerate of the habits and actions of other people"—adding that "the prohibitive complex has become one of the chief menaces of our civilization," and that "prohibitionism has many of the symptoms of an insidious form of anxiety-psychosis." Dr. Paton should have added that the "prohibitive complex" is all right in its proper place, is not madness but an admirable form of sanity, when it is aimed in the right direction; and that it is properly aimed only when its object is the correction of our own individual faults, questionable indulgences, and secret sins. But, and to say, it is all too rarely so aimed, and is usually most industriously at work with a view to correct, control, and destroy the freedom of the other fellow.

ACROSS PARTY LINES.

In bidding good-speed to the Legionnaires sailing on the Leviathan for France, Vice-President Dawes paid a fine tribute to two "great" Democrats as follows:
Now that the tumult of the war has died down our country is beginning to realize the great war service of our great war President, the Commander-in-Chief of our army and navy, Woodrow Wilson, and of our great war Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker. I want to say now that we who were in France during the war always realized Woodrow Wilson's and Newton D. Baker's great purpose and great sincerity, carried out to protect the American army from political influence, to have promotion made on merit, to let the best man rise to the top, and to do their duty by their country.

General Dawes unconsciously paid tribute to his own character in thus doing honor to his two war-time chiefs of the political party in opposition to his own. It is interesting to find in the same day's news similar good will across party lines expressed by a scholarly Democratic ex-Secretary of the United States, John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who, interviewed in his ancestral home, Cedar Grove Plantation, said he regretted not having "enjoyed a close-up" on General Dawes, who was "always interesting and sometimes amusing," who also said that he "liked Cabin Coolidge," being sure that he is "clean" and believing that he has made "just about as good a President as any Republican possibly could." As for Hoover, he likes him "very much," although, as in the case of Grant, it took him "a mighty long time to find out what party, if any, he belongs to." Nevertheless he conceded Mr. Hoover's great abilities and said he had "endeared himself" to the flood sufferers and all their friends.
Such good will across party lines, at the same shown by General Dawes and ex-Senator Williams, is a rare and pleasing thing to see.

THAT BODY OF YOURS
BY
James W. Barton, M.D.

POOR PEOPLE HAVE LESS LIVER TROUBLE.

Being poor sometimes has its advantages if we stop to consider the figures of the occurrence of gall stones as found in wealthy and in poor individuals.
In making examinations it was found that in the poor districts of London, the number of cases of gall stones discovered after death, was about three in every hundred, whereas in middle class districts it ran about 15 to 25 per hundred, and in the wealthy districts even higher.
And yet gall stones are found frequently in tramps.

I believe that you can see at once that there are the two underlying causes of gall stones, that is the eating of a great quantity of rich food, and lack of active work or exercise.
That eating is a big factor was proven during the war when it was found that in one Russian hospital the number of cases of gall stones was five times less in 1919 than in 1914.

That exercise is a great preventive was proven by the fact that the number of patients under forty years of age before the war was 25 per cent, whereas after the war there was but 11 per cent, which suggests that those who were active during the war did not readily form stones, and fits in with the fact that gall stones are rare in soldiers.

Stones are more frequently found in indoor workers, and are rare in outdoor laborers; they occur in pet dogs, but are absent in wild animals.
And the serious thing about this is that while only a small percentage need operations you can see at once those those that do, coming from the inactive and usually well fed class, do not make good subjects for operation. They are usually soft and often very much overweight.

So whether we are rich or poor, are indoor or outdoor workers, our chances of avoiding gall stones are greatly increased by a moderate diet, and regular outdoor exercise.
Further should it be necessary to undergo an operation for gall stones our chances for a successful operation are likewise greatly increased, if we have kept our bodies in good condition.

Remember then that gall stones are common, but it is the neglected exercise that often means operation.

THE DOER OF DEEDS
By EVELYN GAGE BROWNE

IT ISN'T the man who tells you how everything should be done; Who points out this one's failures, And does at everyone.

Who boasts his low had done it, And criticizes the way, The Doer of Deeds is working— Who counts in the world today.

It's the man who's in the struggle, Whose face is grimed and worn, Who keeps on fighting bravely, Though battle-scarred and torn. He may fall—but gets up again, And striving, never beads. The ones who sneer and slander, But dares to do the deeds.

He gives himself, unsparring, And never counts the cost; But knows the joy of fighting, Although his cause is lost.

To him belongs the credit, And the victor's laurels, too; For the world today is needing The man who dares to do! (Copyright.)

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT
By F. A. WALKER

THE LOGICAL SEX

ABOUT the oldest tradition in the world is the one that describes the "race of men" as the logical sex. The masculine human being is convinced that he solves his problems by reasoning with himself about them. On the other hand, he is convinced that the female of the species is simply guided by instinct.

This is in spite of the fact that all over the world, from China to Peru, when it comes to the question of feminism, the men lay down a general proposition and then proceed to evade it.

In a word, women and men are "equal." But man's prejudices must not be interfered with. He still reserves to himself the right to protect and regulate the other half of humanity.

Women have the right to vote at elections all over the continent of North America. They may be admitted to the bar and plead before the courts. But the question whether or not they should be allowed to sit on juries is not yet settled in most of the states.

Various reasons are given by those who oppose the change.

When it is examined, the opposition is found to be based on the theory that the gentle sex must be regulated as it has been in the past.

An interesting example of masculine logic is supplied by the German republic.

In the constitution of that state it is provided explicitly that men and women have the same rights and, apart from fighting, must perform the same duties.

Yet when the proposal to make women eligible for jury duty came up before the federal council in the form of the proposed draft of a law, it was negatived.

The explanation given by Herr Von Preger, the Bavarian representative, ought to be framed and hung up in every woman's club in the world as an example of how not to reason.

"The Bavarian government," he said, "maintains the principal standpoint that women are not suited to judicial office. The admission of women would result in a softening of justice, which is most undesirable just at this time."

So it all comes to this: Women may elect those who make the laws; they may expound the same laws; but they are not fit to decide simple questions of fact arising in connection with the administration of the laws.

When Mrs. Poyser made the tart generalization that the women were made fools "to match the men" she was really unnecessarily severe on the long suffering sisterhood. (By McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press.)

London—The Prince of Wales, back from a visit to Canada, seems to have been bitten hard by the golf bug. He played frequently in the Dominion and on the way home hit balls into a net an hour every day on the steamship Empress of Scotland.

New York—One form of cave-man wooing is disapproved by Mrs. Mary Carolyn Davies. Henry Higgins sent word to the paper that he and she were to be married. Whereupon she said: "We have been friends a long time. The announcement was a clever strategic move to rush me into marriage, but as a cave-man method of wooing it was unsuccessful."

Portland, Me.—Regulation of long distance flights is opposed by Senator Moses of New Hampshire. "Progress is made by sacrifice," he says. "You cannot stop those daring men of the airways any more than you could stop the pioneers of the covered wagon days."

London—"Abbie's Irish Rose" may be a perennial in New York, but it has been unable to bloom nearly so long in London. After 16 weeks in the city, it is touring the provinces.

New York—Harry N. Leaver, for 20 years a buyer in a department store, left a will bequeathing his estate, consisting mostly of clothing, to relatives. The will describes his effects minutely, even to "one white linen imported spat, one tan cloth domestic spat."

Durham, N. H.—Pal Reed, who as a middleweight fought Greb, Walker and Delaney among others in 75 battles, is going to college. Having attended summer school at Harvard four years, he is now at the University of New Hampshire, specializing in physical education.

New York—Mme. Safie Hussin-Bey, delegate from Turkey to the recent meeting of the World League Against Alcoholism at Winona Lake, has heard a lot about speakeasies and blind pigs in New York. And she says she would like to see one before returning home.

Newark, N. J.—Federal prohibition agents must limit themselves to two or three drinks in getting evidence, by order of Walter E. Brown, assistant administrator. And even that, he says, is too much if they can't hold it.

MAKE PLANS FOR ANNUAL LEGION VICTORY BALL.

At a meeting of the American Legion Victory Ball committee last night, in the Memorial Building, ways and means were discussed for promoting the annual event.

George Potter, chairman of the committee, called for ideas and plans from the various members, and plans for holding the ball November 11 in the armory were made.

The committee will get in touch with various organizations who furnish talented performers for these affairs and a definite announcement regarding the program will be made shortly.

It is the aim of the American Legion to make the Victory Ball a huge success, surpassing any previous year. High class entertainment is being planned and efforts will be made to secure a nationally known orchestra.

It is planned to have the performance begin at 8:15 o'clock and conclude at 9:45, with dancing until 2 a. m. The armory will be appropriately decorated by the legionnaires for the big occasion and further details will be worked out in a few days.

Tax Legislation Will Be Delayed

Opposing of Widely Divergent Views Will Be Necessary Before Legislation Can Be Sent to President.

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP).—While Republicans and Democrats in Congress are agreed that there should be substantial reductions in the nation's tax bill, effective next year, a coming of widely divergent views will be necessary before the legislation can be sent to the President for his approval.

The House ways and means committee will begin drafting the measure before Congress meets with a view to putting it through the House before the Christmas recess or immediately afterward, but when the bill reaches the senate it will be subjected to the rewriting which has been done there to all revenue measures since the war.

With a presidential campaign in the air, Senate Democrats are not likely to enter into the tacit agreement they did two years ago on the major features which the Republican majority of the finance committee voted into the revenue law. This of itself will complicate the situation and make for delay.

With neither Republicans nor Democrats able to muster a working majority in the Senate, the insurgents, who have pronounced views on the form reductions should take, will hold the balance of power and probably will be able to delay action on farm relief, flood control and other measures have been put well on their way or have been enacted.

Admittedly these and other questions, such as naval expansion, will have their effect upon the amount of reductions which can be made without impairing the operations of the treasury in the coming years when there may be a decline in industrial activity.

METHODIST LEADER DEMANDS A CATHOLIC FOR PRESIDENT

The first issue of "Plain Talk Magazine", a monthly dedicated to Tolerance, will print an article by a Methodist minister which not only defends but actually advises the selection of a Catholic for president.

The Rev. Lynn Harold Hough, pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church in Detroit, and one of the foremost leaders of his denomination, feels that it is now our duty to have a Catholic president and that when a Protestant refuses to vote for a Catholic whose character and abilities he admits and with whose policies he agrees, and makes that refusal simply because the candidate is a Catholic, that Protestant is not worthy of the name or of the privilege of American citizenship.

Dr. Hough writes under the title of "Why Not a Catholic President?" and his conclusion is "Why not indeed?" "There will always be plenty of Protestant presidents," he points out. "There ought to be an occasional Catholic president. It is not too much to say that in the presence of the great body of earnest and loyal and capable citizens of the Roman Catholic communion to be found in the United States we confront a situation which makes moral demands upon all of us. We should not rest contented until the time has come when we can place a high minded Catholic, a man of unquestioned character and ability, in the chair of the president of the United States. Men of good-will in the Protestant group ought to be eager that Catholics should have a share in public office in proportion to their percentage of the population, and should be watching for Catholic candidates whom they can conscientiously support."

Although Dr. Hough does not mention Governor Alfred E. Smith by name, it is quite evident that his proposed candidate has inspired the article in "Plain Talk".

The Detroit pastor makes short work of the stock arguments against having a Catholic in the White House. "The fear," he says, "that a Catholic president would suddenly turn the United States into a Catholic nation need not be taken seriously. The probability is that a Catholic president would treat the Protestant element in his constituency with even more consideration than has sometimes characterized the action of Protestant presidents.

"To those who fear reactionary legislation from a Catholic in the White House, Dr. Hough's reply is that they look at the mote in their own eye.

"Certainly," he says, "Protestantism has made its own unhappy contribution to the forces of reaction. It must be made clear to the members of every religious group that positions which are held as corollaries of the religious principles of a group must not be forced upon unwilling majorities in the republic. One sees the danger of this sort of attempt on the part of the reactionary minorities when one takes account of the attempt of certain Protestant fundamentalists to pass laws against the teaching of the positions and theories connected with the evolutionary hypothesis in our schools.

"The truth is," the Methodist minister concludes, "we must watch every one of the groups, religious and secular, in respect to keeping our liberties secure. None of us can be trusted with a leadership which is not subjected to the inspection of very critical minds."

Setting Him Straight
"Aw, I can't!" whined the young nephew.

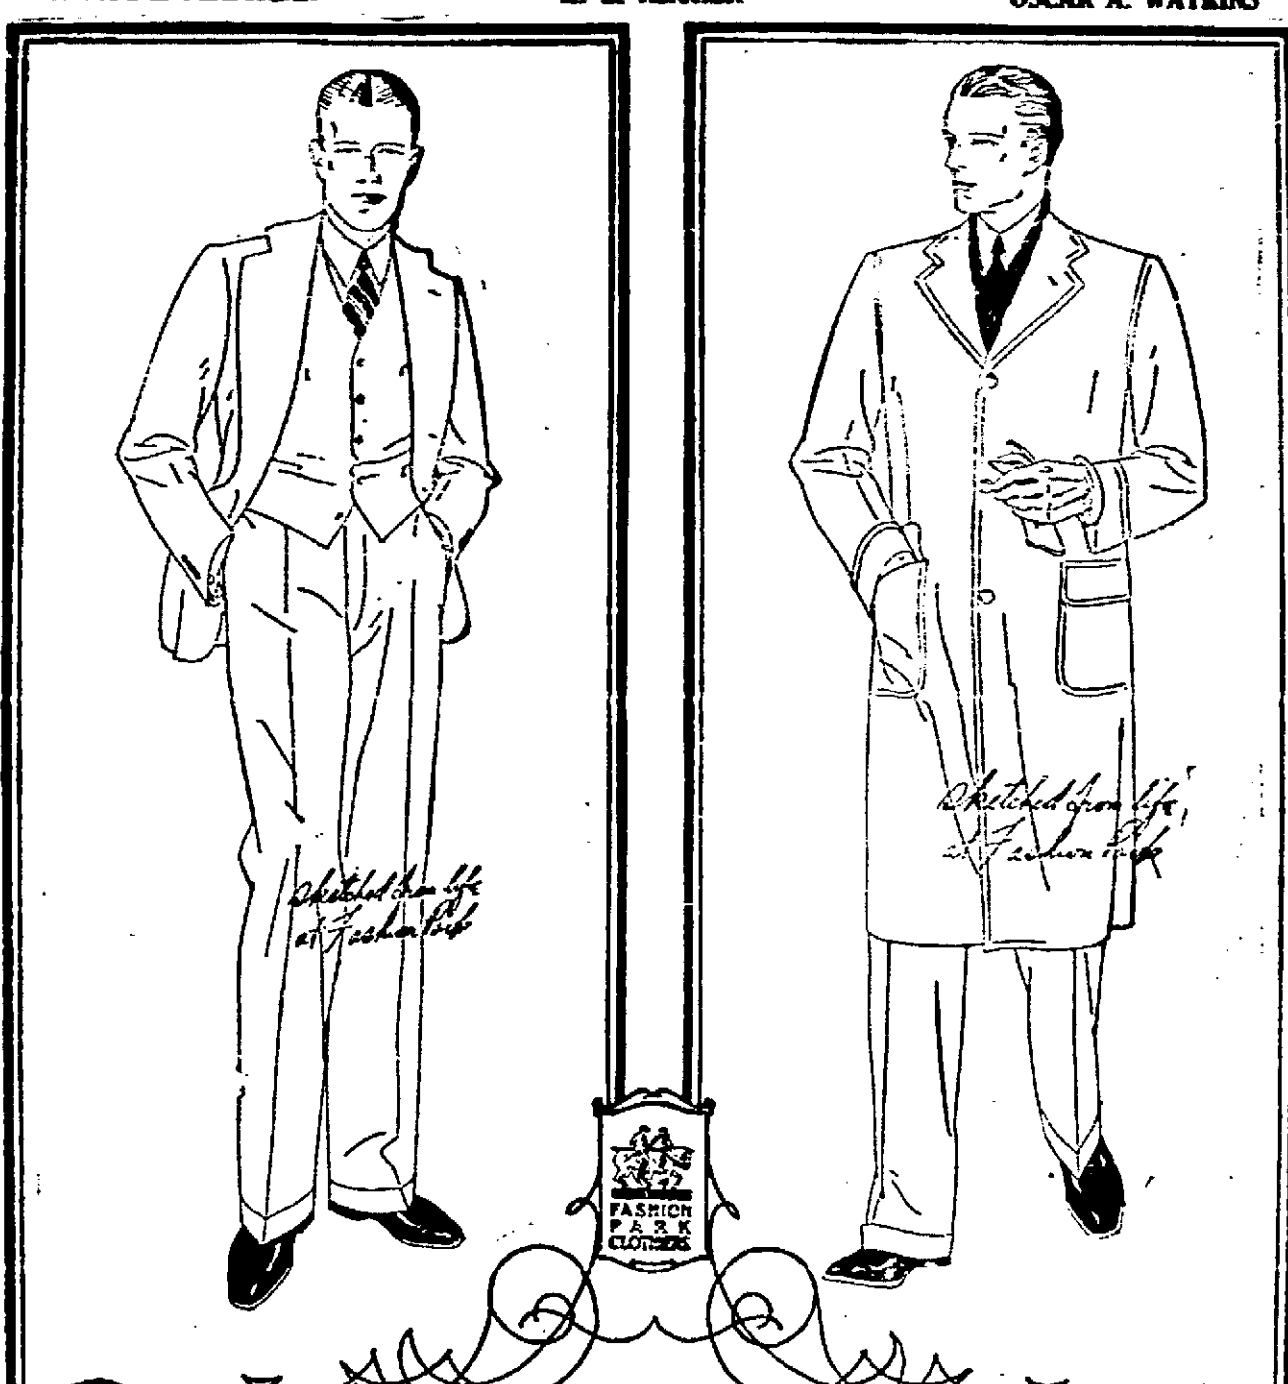

"You can't?" answered old Riley Rezzidew sarcastically. "You ain't been hypnotized, have ye, or got a broken leg, or the dyspepsy, or a wife and mother-in-law to henpeck the energy out of ye; you are not in the poorhouse or in jail, or bound hand and foot with chains, are ye? In this present Anno Domini and this Great Land of the Free any whole and healthy man or boy who makes use of the word 'can't' when referring to any task or duty of everyday life, ought to be arrested for misappropriating other people's property—stealing a word that is the rightful possession of cripples, paupers, prisoners and model husbands."—Kansas City Star.

You and your Ford will welcome this remarkable "non-chatter" oil

"CHATTER" has no business in a Ford. It wasn't there when the car was new. And it can be kept out—easily. The minute you detect a drag or grip-and-slip in the transmission bands, put Atlantic N. C. on the job. Out goes the trouble, instantly! Use Atlantic N. C. regularly and it won't come back.

Atlantic N. C. is the finest investment in operating smoothness and riding comfort a Ford owner can make. Means a big saving in upkeep too. Bands stay soft, pliable, even-gripping. They last much longer—fewer renewals are necessary. Your whole car will give you many, many extra miles of dependable service. Atlantic N. C. is also the finest lubricant you can use in the motor itself.

Don't confuse Atlantic N. C. with so-called "non-chatter" oils whose effectiveness is only temporary. Atlantic N. C. is permanently efficient—the "non-chatter" qualities won't evaporate, wear off or give off objectionable odors under heat. It is a paraffine base oil too—highest heat-resisting motor oil made!

"KIDNAPED" BRIDEGROOM FILES DAMAGE SUIT.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP).—A "kidnaping" stunt in which a bridegroom was the victim, will have its echo in a $10,000 damage suit, papers on file in supreme court reveal.

Frank P. Cavallo, the bridegroom, is bringing the action on the basis of injuries received when the automobile in which he was "kidnaped" by his friends came to grief against a telegraph pole on his wedding night, April 27, on the Utica-Syracuse highway.

Cavallo alleges in his complaint that Anthony Dardano forced him to enter Dardano's car against "his wishes and consent" and despite the screams of his bride, who was formerly Jane Oltos of this city.

He charges that Dardano proceeded to drive westward along the Utica-Syracuse state highway and that upon arrival in Oneida, he permitted him to telephone his bride and advise her of his whereabouts.

Then alleging that he was again forced into the car, Cavallo asserts that Dardano operated the machine at a "high and unlawful rate of speed and in such a careless and reckless manner as to cause the machine to skid on a curve east of Oneida and strike a telegraph pole."

It is expected that the case will go to trial next month.

Well, isn't it?

"What is the name of the torpid state in which some animals spend the winter?" asked the inveterate questioner. "Florida," replied the bright stenographer.—American Magazine.

Bunn Farm Fruit Finest Lot Seen

Uster Park Apples Sold to Clinton Association and Pronounced Best Apples Seen This Year—Good Spraying and Dusting Did It.

The Clinton Fruit Growers' Association, through its members, W. Macdonald, has sold for Clinton Association the finest lot of apples ever seen in the county. The apples, consisting of 2000 bushels of McIntosh and 1000 bushels of other varieties, were all grown on the Bunn farm, near Uster Park, and were all sold to the Clinton Association. The apples were all sold to the Clinton Association, and were all sold to the Clinton Association.

Mr. Bunn has been able to control all the pests of the last season, consequently his orchard is an outstanding one. Mr. Bunn, Spray Service Supervisor of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, assisted Mr. Bunn in his spray problems and from the results obtained in this orchard, it surely pays big dividends to take the very best of care of the apple crop.

Hook Mountain Park Development

New Steamboat and Motor Excursion Resort Will Be Completed Next Summer—Steamboat Travel Will Be First Made Possible.

Development of the Hook Mountain section of the Palisades Interstate Park, as a new steamboat and motor excursion resort on the west side of the Hudson, midway between the Palisades and the Harriman Park at Bear Mountain, will be pushed by the park commission to make possible its enjoyment by the public in a large degree by next summer. Funds for the purpose have been allotted, out of the State Park Bond Issue adopted in 1925, and construction equipment is now being assembled on the site.

Steamboat travel to this park will first be made possible, and to that end, construction will soon be begun on a pier about a mile north of Rockland Lake Landing, at the site of the abandoned power house, used by the quarries whose gouging of the river front of Hook Mountain led to its acquisition by the park, to conserve the beauty of the west bank of the Hudson. The excursion steamers owned by the commission will be able to land passengers from the Battery in New York in an hour and a half, and from the Harlem piers, in an hour, which will make possible at least two round trips a day. This will provide a Hudson river playground ten miles nearer to New York city and northern New Jersey communities, than any now existing, except the Palisades.

Provision will also be made for improved access by motorists. At present the shore under Hook Mountain is inaccessible for the most part, owing to cliffs and rough talus slopes, except at beaches and camping places maintained by the commission, at Upper Nyack, under the Verclitege Hook, the highest point of Hook Mountain; at Rockland Lake Landing, reached by a steep winding road from Rockland Lake Village, and at Sneeder Landing, two miles south of Haverstraw. Major W. A. Welch, general manager and chief engineer of the park, has planned a new motor road, extending along the foot of the cliffs, from Upper Nyack, under Verclitege Hook, past Rockland Lake Landing, to Haverstraw, a distance of five miles. Such a road will be valuable not only to give access to the beaches, camping places, and other recreation areas to be developed in the strip along the river, but will add another motor highway, to relieve the congestion on other routes on the west bank of the Hudson. It will also make another scenic route, comparable with the Storm King
 Highway and the Bear Mountain Bridge approach, for it will have as its foreground the wide Tappan Zee, and the Westchester hills and as its background the steep mountain front, bared in steep cliffs where the quarries were opened, and elsewhere dense woodland of mixed hardwood and hemlock.

Nature is fast healing the scars left by the quarries in the six immense traprock quarries, whose defacement of the state led to its acquisition by the state, through private philanthropy and public funds. The rock joints are in the same hexagonal and pentagonal prisms as in the Palisades, and the back walls of the quarries have much the same appearance as the natural pillars further south. Ten years weathering of these walls has turned the raw gray color, after blasting to the brown of long exposed traprock, and this natural effect will be heightened as the years go on.

Excavations Helped.
 The quarry excavations have also helped in the development of the Hook Mountain section for recreation, and for the construction of the shore highway, by leaving level floors, suitable for camping and picnic grounds, athletic fields, and other purposes. These floors correspond approximately to the top of the Triassic red sandstone, which underlies the trap at various levels all along the Hudson from Jersey City to Haverstraw. Under the front of Hook Mountain the top of the sandstone is about sixty feet above the Hudson, and this fixed the floor of the quarries, so that the excavation left a broad terrace, exposed to summer breezes off the Tappan Zee, and giving a splendid view of the river scenery and life.

The present short stretches of bathing beach are to be improved and lengthened, especially in front of the quarries just north of Rockland Lake Landing, at the steamboat dock. The river is here quite clean for bathing, being far above the heavy outpouring of sewage from New York city and other lower Hudson communities.

Intensive development of the Hook Mountain section will be limited to a few areas accessible by steamboat and by the new motor highway. The steep slopes and the summit ridge will be left to the hikers, who already know them and the trails along their brink. The top of the mountain, from the crossing of the state highway, No. 9 W.
 from Nyack to Rockland Lake, around to Haverstraw and west as the ridge curves to Mount Ivy will be the route of a great through hiking trail from the Palisades to the Harriman Park, there connecting with the elaborate trail system in the Highlands preserve.

The Shore Highway.
 The shore highway along the slope north of the steamboat dock, to Sneecker's Landing and Haverstraw, will be located so as to preserve in their present wild state, the summit ridge and the steep bluff of red sandstone, which overhangs the river.
 This bluff and the boulder and cobble beach below it make one of the most interesting places for a ramble along the lower Hudson. Glacial fragments of all the ledges from the Hudson Highlands to Canada lie polished by the waves, cool springs issue forth from the contact between the trap and sandstone, even into the gravel a few inches above the surface. The water in the bluff is the source of springs which saturated rocks, the heart of the wild flowers, now known only to the exploring hiker, passing along the faint trail on the bluff, or to the venturesome canoeist, who knows secret camping places near the springs, in these breaks in the cliffs.

 All this will be left as wild as it is now.

The quarry doors and the broad terrace of material spread along the bank in front of them, where the strip was noisy with stone crushers and narrow gauge railway cars carrying the rock to the barges a few years ago, will be developed in the same manner as at Haverstraw.
 Landing on the Palisades and at Bear Mountain, with pavilions and shelters, bath houses, and other structures. This quickly accessible division of the Interstate Park will provide for groups and families, desiring the shorter ride by steamboat or motor, and will be particularly convenient for the people of Rockland county, New York, and the northern counties of New Jersey, within five to fifteen miles; and may be also connected by ferry to Ossin-ing or Tarrytown, with the Westchester shore. Its development will bring into public use a section of the Interstate Park primarily acquired for the conservation of the beauty of the Hudson, but in which increasing demand for recreation outlets now calls for intensive improvement at suitable points, while not affecting its scenic qualities, but making them more accessible and appreciable.

Tagging Major League Bases

The black flag of the Pittsburgh Pirates is being securely fitted to the National League masthead. Coming down the home stretch of one of the most interesting pennant races the older circuit has ever known, the Pirates today have a lead of four full games on their closest rivals, the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, who are still deadlocked in second place.
Yesterday Donnie Bush's Buccaneers registered their seventh straight victory. They won a doubleheader from the Boston Braves for the second time in successive days. Kremer held the flanker men to six hits and took the opener, 6-2, while his mates again routed Kent Greenfield, for the second time in as many days. Johnny Miljus, Coast League product, pitched the leaders to a 3-0 triumph in the second game. He gave six scattered hits and never was in danger.
The Giants and Cards battled through two games to an even break again in St. Louis. The Cards took the opener, 6-2, in ten innings, on Hafe's pinch homer. Terry and Böttmeyer also hit for the circuit. New York won the second game handsily, Cantwell, a recruit, earning a 9-3 verdict over the world's champions. A sixth inning Giant rally was good for seven runs. Schulte clouted a homer.
Max Carey's home run with the bases filled in the third inning helped Brooklyn beat the Chicago Cubs again, 10-6. Percy Jones, the Bruins, star southpaw, was the victim of a six run attack in the third but Brillheart, who succeeded him, pitched good ball. The defeat set Joe McCarthy's team back to six and one-half games in the rear of the Pirates.
Rube Bressler's triple in the ninth with the bases loaded and two away gave Cincinnati a 7-6 victory over Philadelphia. It was the eighth victory in succession for the Reds.
The New York Yanks, with the American League pennant already in their possession, won their ninety-ninth game of the season in scalping the Cleveland Indians, 4-1. Dutch Ruether gave seven hits and kept them scattered. Ruth and Gehrig both got singles but the contest was devoid of home runs.
Boston's Red Sox won their third straight from the St. Louis Browns, 9-6. Boston pounded Stewart for three runs in the first inning and never relinquished the lead.
Philadelphia rallied in the ninth to tie the score and then won in the eleventh over the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. Fox's single with the bases full produced the victory. Cobb and Metzler both got three hits.
Rice's spectacular running catch of Fothergill's liner with two on base saved Washington and the Senators nosed out Detroit, 3-2. Washington bunched its hits to score all its runs in the third inning.

Tris Speaker May Lead Indians Again

In the western sector of the American League, questions are still being asked whether or not Tris Speaker is to succeed Buckey Harris as manager of the Washington club. The name old answers are being made, too, that there isn't a chance of such a happening.
Though Speaker is inclined to hold his tongue, his friends in Cleveland say that with Ban Johnson out of the seats of the mighty, Speaker will probably go back to that city as manager of the Indians in 1928.

LOTT TO FINISH SCHOOL AT BROWN

Tennis Star Makes Withdrawal From Chicago.

The Middle West's best tennis prospect in this generation, George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, has decided to switch his university training from Chicago to Brown.
George is only 20 years old. Lott won national rank at the bottom of the first ten last summer, and in January left the University of Chicago, where he had never become academically eligible for admission.

George M. Lott, Jr.

Let's, to play winter tennis in Florida. One victory there over Tilden encouraged him, but the "old master" has beaten him twice since.
He entered Chicago with some reputation as a baseball pitcher and basketball forward, in addition to the title of junior tennis champion of the country, but lack of concentration on his studies kept him off the varsity teams.
"Lott stands today," said one of his University of Chicago professors, "where Vincent Richards stood at 20, the flaming youth of his day on the courts. And unlike Vinnie, he is not pressed by economic necessity."

Four Persons Known to Have Picked Blue Blood

Only four known persons, including the owner, bet on a horse that paid odds of 182 to 1 at the Homewood track near Chicago the other day, and when the long-shot came home a victor, two almost swooned, and another, a negro stable boy, turned hand-springs until he was exhausted.
It was the Kentucky thoroughbred Blue Blood who wrote race horse history for Illinois when she finished two lengths in front in the five furlongs race. The horse's owner, Carter Everett, apparently was the only person in the park who wagered more than $2. He wagered $20 "on the nose," and collected $3,651. He was overcome when the odds were posted.
A glass of water had to be hurried to a woman in the clubhouse who bordered on hysterics when she saw that her $2 ticket across the board had returned her $610.20. A man near the judges' stand who had squandered $2 on a win ticket was overcome with joy when he saw he had gained $363.10. The negro stable boy appeared to be the only other person who had bet $2 on the horse.

Ray Kremer Has Reached Hurling Peak of Career

Ray Kremer has reached the pitching peak at a time when most hurlers are on the down grade. Just turned thirty-one, he led the National league twirlers last year and has gotten off to a flying start this season.
He seemed doomed to end his pitching days in the minors, spending seven of his best playing years with the Oakland team in the Pacific Coast league, until the Pirates corralled him in 1924. Starting his fourth season with Pittsburgh his records show 58 major league triumphs and only 24 defeats for a percentage of about .700.
He has improved with age, topping the league's moundmen last season with 20 victories and 6 defeats—yet a dozen years ago his health wasn't good enough for him to get a trial with the New York Giants. He was called in from the Pacific northwest in 1915 by John McGraw but sent back to the same territory when illness cost him his chance for a tryout.

Heat Bothers Tunney's Training

Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 13 (AP).—Heat and humidity, the two "toughest" opponents Gene Tunney has had to face in the Midwest, were ready for a real assault on the heavyweight champion today.

For three straight days Gene has eroded the heat wave by training with society friends at Lake Forest on Lake Michigan. But the short session of shadow boxing and road work that Tunney was able to sandwich in between social engagements gave way today to a program which called for six rounds of boxing with three sparring partners and several rounds of bag punching, and the heat continued.

Gene had dodged the heavy training grind for the past few days in the belief that the loss in weight under the boiling sun and the drain in nervous energy due to the humidity did not offset what ever good might come of short boxing drills. The champion says he is ready for the fight of his life—what is more, that he was ready when he left Speculator, N. Y., for the Midwest after five months of careful work in Adirondack mountains.

Weighing about 150 pounds, Gene begrudges the three or four pounds that are bound to melt away in the heat. Despite the hot spell, however, Tunney will box again on Friday and Saturday before quitting the training siege.

Monday he plans to return to Lake Forest to rest until leaving for Soldier Field and the title test against Jack Dempsey a week from today.

Polo Cup Will Stay in the U. S.

New York, Sept. 13 (AP).—International Polo supremacy rests in the United States until 1936. A courageous comeback by the British challenge team fell short of its objective yesterday at the Meadow Brooks Club, and America's big four dashed off with its second straight victory, this time by a score of 8 to 5.

With a revamped lineup the invaders strove to atone for their 13-3 defeat in the first match. For the last seven chukkers they matched goal for goal with the veteran Yankees, and it was only because of a first period salvo of three goals by Tommy Hitchcock, the brilliant American forward, that the defenders were able to conclude the series without the necessity of a third game.

Hitchcock's whirlwind start was just a bit too much for the British to offset, but in the face of a powerful American defense they carried the attack throughout the last half of the match.

Potsy Clark, Putler college coach, is considered the greatest quarterback in Illinois history.

California has held the girls' national turf court tennis championship five of the last six years.

Richard says he is going to have an arena capable of seating 125,000 within a year. He probably will, too.

Despite her poor showing in the Poughkeepsie regatta this season, California already is planning for the 1928 regatta.

All Potsy Clark needs to provide Butler with a winning football team is 11 first-string players of unusual ability and plenty of substitutes.

Another of our lesser ambitions is to live to see the day when some box office employee will hand Tex Rickard a gallery ticket and explain that it is immediately back of the bass drum.

"Get 'Em Close to Hole," Is Big Secret

City Series Will Continue Tonight

This evening at 8:45 o'clock on the Athletic Field the West Shore, winners of the first game of the Industrial League championship series, and the U. & D.-Cornell nine will clash in the second battle for the honors of the league.

The series has attracted considerable attention and a large crowd is expected to visit the Athletic Field while the championship fight is being waged. Dick Williams will undoubtedly take the mound for the U. & D.-Cornell team this evening in an endeavor to even matters with the West Shore. He will be supplanted if necessary by either of the reserves, Peters or Black. Carpenter, who hurled the West Shore to victory in the first game, will assume the boxman's task this evening it is said, although it. Williams or Bush may be the choice of Manager Banks.

Dempsey Says He Is at Top Form

Lincoln Fields, Colo., Ill., Sept. 13 (AP).—Jack Dempsey is somewhat wary now that he voted against fighting Gene Tunney September 15, insisting on September 22 as the earliest date he would be ready.

For Dempsey today, by his own and Manager Leo Flynn's statements, is at top form. Dempsey's last full workout against fire sparring partners Tuesday night, satisfied his handlers that he is the same scowling, merciless fighter of old.

Jack has been in Chicago a month today, and is training most of that time, with the Sharkey training and fight hardly two months back. He is so near the peak today that his training has been proceeding only at half speed.

He did nothing at all yesterday but attend the Washington Park races, to watch the running of the Jack Dempsey Handicap, returning soon afterward to his camp. Two more ring workouts are planned by Manager Flynn, but they probably will be in secret, despite the loud complaints of newspapermen to promoter Tex Rickard.

Manager Flynn turned over his duties as chaperone of the former champion to Mrs. Estelle Taylor Dempsey, for the visit to the race track. There, it developed, Jack had come with but 50 cents in his trousers, and so he had to borrow from his wife to make a wager on the first race. It was reported that he won $428.75 on the victory of Nellie Wood, and put $200 of it back on Chicago, winner of the Jack Dempsey handicap, which paid only 74 cents on the dollar.

Apple Crop Shows Further Decline

All Other Fruit Crops in New York State Are Very Much Below Those of Last Year and Many Are Short in the Entire Country.

The apple crop throughout the state is very light, with relatively the best prospects in the Champlain Valley and the Hudson Valley according to the state-federal report for September issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. Last year, the heavy production in the general farming sections outside the commercial "Apple Belt" swelled the totals. This season, the crop is very small in those sections. There has been a severe attack of apple and thorn skeletonizer in the territory adjacent to the Hudson and Mohawk Valleys, which has completely defoliated many unsprayed orchards, thus checking further improvement of the quantity and quality of the fruit. Due to weather exceptionally favorable for the development of scale, aphids and red spider these troubles are also very bad and have cut down the yield of first quality fruit even in sprayed orchards. Severe local hailstorms in several sections of the Hudson Valley and Western New York, have also been damaging. In contrast to the large percentage of high grade fruit last year, reports are very pessimistic this season.

The expectation was expressed by a large group of commercial growers with orchards in all commercial sections, that about the following percentages of all classes of apples would pack in each of the standard grades. The percentage reported in various recent years expressed as Grade A, or U.S. No. 1 were 37 per cent in 1927, 54 per cent in 1926; 60 per cent in 1925; as Grade B or U.S. No. 2, 30 per cent in 1927; 22 per cent in 1926 and 22 per cent in 1925; lower grades than above, 33 per cent in 1927; 24 per cent in 1926 and 18 per cent in 1925.

Early season estimates placed the percentage of the crop which would be summer, fall and early winter, and winter apples as 15, 30 and 55 per cent respectively, compared with 12, 28 and 60 per cent last year and 10, 24 and 60 per cent in 1925.

Of the important varieties, Dutchess, Wealthy and other fall varieties, McIntosh and Northern Spy are the most promising, while Baldwin, the major variety of the state, are light, and Greenings very light. The September 1st forecast of 15,675,000 bushels compares with last year's estimate of 40,375,000 bushels when all were not harvested and 32,500,000 bushels in 1925 and 22,000,000 bushels in 1924. The commercial part of the crop indicates 3,036,000 barrels compared with 6,500,000 barrels available for sale if they could have been marketed last year and 6,250,000 barrels in 1925 and 3,738,000 barrels in 1924.

In other states are the light crops in the so-called barreled-apple season east of the Mississippi River and the poor to fair crops elsewhere. The United States crop is forecast at about half of last year's production, or 122,574,999 bushels this season and 246,466,666 bushels last, of which production because of the much closer utilization expected 24,125,000 barrels are rated as commercial this year compared with 39,411,000 barrels in 1926.

The total crop in important states forecast for this year is one-half that of 1925.

Peaches in New York have suffered further declines with the crop now forecast at 936,000 bushels compared with 2,300,000 bushels last year which was also the five-year average. The Rochester variety is showing up relatively better than the main variety of Elberta, which makes up most of the crop. In Lake Ontario and lower Hudson Valley sections the crop is poor while outside these areas there are practically no peaches. New Jersey has 2,336,000 bushels, compared with 3,000,000 last year and 2,376,000 the five-year average. Michigan has only 493,000 bushels compared with 2,120,000 last year and 1,037,000 bushels the five-year average. California has had a heavy crop, and because of local difficulties in marketing the canning crop, has shipped peaches eastward to a much greater extent than formerly.

Pears in New York promise 1,628,000 bushels this year, slight increase over earlier forecasts, although slightly below the light crop of 2,088,000 bushels last year. The United States crop of pears is forecast at 18,000,000 bushels compared with 25,600,000 bushels last year and the average of 20,800,000 bushels for five years.

In contrast to last year, the grape crop promises to be light in New York state, especially in the Champlain-Erie Belt, with a total state crop forecast at 59,700 tons, compared with 108,700 tons last year and a five-year average of 81,108 tons. Pennsylvania likewise has a small grape crop, 16,577 tons compared with 25,110 tons last year, and the five-year average of 19,508 tons. Ohio and Michigan have crops which are average, although below last year. New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan, the four eastern Concord grape states together have prospects for 148,000 tons this year compared with 222,000 tons last season and 173,000 tons the five-year average.

Potatoes: Only Fair—Beans: Poor. Cabbage: Good.

There was little change during August in the potato situation in New York state, the relatively poor condition reported at that time having continued, with attacks of late blight in many unsprayed fields, and the retardation of growth because of cool, dry weather in some localities. The September forecast, assuming that average weather prevails to the end of the season, is for a crop of 31,895,000 bushels, compared with 38,916,000 bushels last year and the five-year average of 34,273,000 bushels. Late blight has reduced the prospects seriously in Maine while in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, frosts and droughts have cut the expected crop. The decrease in these four states is over 18,000,000 bushels from the August forecast. The nine late states of Maine, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota now have 205,833,000 bushels in prospect compared with 199,670,000 bushels last year and the five-year average of 225,333,000 bushels. These states produce about half the potato crop of the United States. The United States crop is forecast at 399,798,000 bushels last year, 256,123,000 bushels in 1926 and the five-year average of 294,135,000 bushels.

The bean crop in New York has suffered serious deterioration because of unfavorable growing weather and the ravages of disease. They are ripening up unusually late and are thus subject to greater frost hazards than usual. The September forecast of 105,000 bushels compares with 1,145,000 bushels harvested last year, when the crop was badly damaged by wet weather at harvest time.

Danish cabbage, the late fall and winter shipping and storage variety, promises well, providing the late planted fields reach maturity. The state forecast of 227,900 tons of this variety is in contrast to 204,300 tons last season. Wisconsin has 36,700 tons in sight, compared with 79,500 tons last year, while the United States total of 361,000 tons is somewhat greater than the 327,300 tons produced last year.

Abundant Feed Crop.

The major feed crop on New York state farms, hay, was harvested in abundance this season. Indications on September 1st were that a total production of 7,065,000 tons could be expected unless the abandonment of acreage is much heavier than usual. Last year the estimated harvest was 6,392,000 tons while the average during the past five years has been 6,793,000 tons. This includes the state crop of alfalfa estimated at 531,000 tons compared with 480,000 tons a year ago. Conditions have been favorable for a second growth of clover and grasses, especially on early-cut meadows, and these are quite extensively utilized as pasture feed in the dairy sections. Pasture conditions were 82 per cent or about average for the state as a whole, though about two per cent below last year at this time. Conditions were about average in the dairy territory of central and northern New York, above average in northeastern and southeastern counties, and decidedly poor in most parts of the upper Hudson and eastern Mohawk valley counties, as well as in some parts of western New York. The conditions throughout the entire state may be characterized as "spotted".

Oats are barley promise slightly better than average yields in the state, with 35,824,000 bushels of oats this year, compared with 34,675,000 bushels last year, and the five-year average of 33,903,000 bushels. Barley, with 5,330,000 compares with 5,066,000 bushels last year and 4,590,000 bushels, the five-year average.

Corn Crop Poor.

Corn on the other hand is poor, with an average growing condition of 67 per cent compared with the 10-year average of 82. Although many fields, especially those in fertile valley-bottoms have made excellent stalk-growth, the fodder crop will in general be short, and many silos will not be filled as full as could be desired. There is not much likelihood that corn for grain will reach its usual degree of maturity.

For the United States, the September indications are that there will be 93 per cent as much corn as last year, although the crop will need more than ordinarily favorable weather to reach full maturity. There will be 95.3 per cent as many oats, 103.4 per cent as much wheat, 137.3 per cent as much barley, 150.0 per cent as much rye and if maturity is reached, 119.4 per cent as much buckwheat as last year. These are the sources of most of the dairy and poultry feeds purchased in New York. The two high-protein sources, namely flax seed at 128.5 per cent of last year, and cotton at perhaps 70.6 per cent, complete the picture. There is an abundance of hay, however, with a United States total tame hay crop of 101,269,000 tons; 17.8 per cent greater than last year's crop of 86,134,000 tons, which was somewhat below the five-year average of 90,904,000 tons.

"The Champagne of Ginger Ales"

THE witchery of a wonderful flavor has made "Canada Dry" the outstanding ginger ale success of all time.

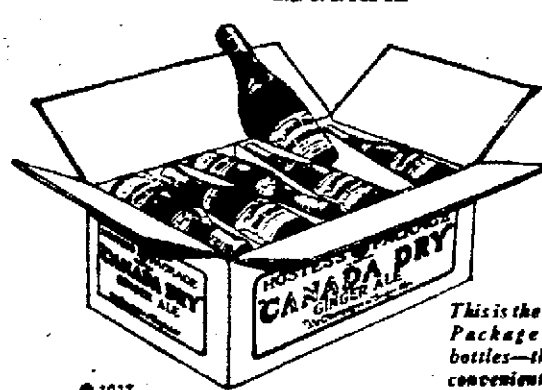

Somewhat it seems as if the very spirit of the snow-clad hills and the stimulation of mountain air have been captured within each crested, emerald bottle. Poured into fragile stemware, this fine old ginger ale bubbles and dances like a time-mellowed champagne and bids you drink and be merry.

"Canada Dry" is a better, finer ginger ale because we make very definite efforts to have it so. In the purity and quality of its ingredients, and the perfection of the methods by which it is made, it stands absolutely alone. There is no other ginger ale like it.

Serve it tonight at dinner or when good friends call to spend the evening with you. It's a real treat for all the year—for every occasion.

HIGH-NECKED SWEATERS, CARDIGANS AND TAILLEURS ARE PRESENTED FOR THE GIRL WHO AFFECTS SPORTS TOGS

New York. It is rather naturally for those that when the outdoor season ends, there should be some falling of in the most concerning sports, yet with the word on the wing, there is always an outdoor life somewhere, if one has the time and money to live it.

The two-piece dress, while not always of sports persuasion, usually suggests that classification, and is again much in vogue. Two-piece suits, tailors of the simplest sort, are being shown to a greater extent than is usually the case for fall. There seems to be something about the tailor that is closely associated with the first robin of spring, while, when the leaves begin to fall, the average woman is inclined to be more interested in a top coat than a suit. The real crux of the present situation is that the tailor may be hidden under the top coat, which is inclined to be of three-quarter length.

WAYS WITH BANANAS

Because of its lack of acid, the banana is the favorite food for those who have nervous indigestion or too acid stomach. To combine with cooked or uncooked breakfast foods the fruit is held in high esteem. Bananas when served uncooked should be well ripened to be wholesome.

When serving bananas to children, or in fact to anyone, remove the peel and scrape with a silver knife to remove the fiber.

Porto Rican Baked Bananas.—Select large unripe bananas, put them without removing the skins into a hot oven to bake until the skins burst. Send to the table in a folded napkin and do not remove the skins until the moment of eating. Serve with plenty of butter.

Banana Croquettes.—Remove the skin and coarse threads from five bananas, cut into halves and trim the ends, brush with beaten egg, roll in crumbs and fry in deep fat. Serve with lamb chops or roast lamb. Serve with:

Currant Jelly Sauce.—Melt half a glass of currant jelly in a scant cupful of boiling water, add one-half cupful of sugar and a teaspoonful of cornstarch well mixed in it. Let cook for five minutes, then add a tablespoonful of butter and a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

Molded Cereal With Bananas.—Turn any leftover cereal into cups rinsed with cold water. When cold turn out, scoop out the centers and fill with sliced bananas. Turn into a buttered pan, set into the oven to become hot. Serve with sugar and cream.

Banana Salad.—Peel ripe bananas cut into halves and roll in chopped nuts after dipping into salad dressing. Serve on lettuce with any good dressing.

If the family likes oranges, serve them in halves, then the next day in thin slices, or as juice in a glass, then serve them in sections, stripped of their white membrane. These make a great hit with the busy worker in a hurry to dash off to work or school.

"I had to go to London to find out!"

So often we find it difficult to understand and accept the things that make us happy!

This Missouri girl had to travel all the way to London to realize the truth of foot happiness. Here is her story—

"Last summer my Aunt Margaret in New York invited me to go to Europe with her," she wrote.

"It seemed so wonderful, for I had lived rather quietly, doing but few of the things most girls do. I seldom danced or played golf and tennis. I often thought I was different from other girls. But now I should have some real fun."

"I met her in New York and we had a glorious time shopping for the things I needed on the trip. New gowns, hats, lingerie, wraps, baggage—for two whole days we simply revelled in the fine shops."

"But the next morning when we sailed I was a wreck. I felt that I wanted to sit still in a deck chair the rest of my life. My aunt told me I needed Arch Preserver Shoes. She had worn them a long time, she said, and they had stopped her foot aches. But I insisted that my feet were all right. I thought I was merely tired."

"Yet, I realized that I was actually dreading the 'ordeal' of the trip. On the steamer I sat alone while she walked the deck and joined in the games. I never in my life before felt so useless."

"Then came the evening before we were to dock. My Aunt looked at me seriously and said: 'The first thing we do in London is to get you a pair of Arch Preserver Shoes. I'm not going to allow you to spoil this trip for both of us!'"

Aristide Maurin Explains It All

Rotarians Show the World should Run and Shows the Path of Saving or Investing Surplus Funds.

Aristide Maurin, teacher of French at the speaker at the Rotarian luncheon Wednesday and providing an exceedingly entertaining. The speaker for all the social and financial evils of the world was set forth. It consists in giving all the poor, never saving or investing a cent and thus promoting business and prosperity. The speaker seemed queer to an audience of men but could not seem as queer to them as they did to him. He sets the pace and with the calm uncolored there is no culture among those who follow. Saving and investing increase the cost of production, bring about over production, which results in unemployment, and then there is a slump and suffering. Moral: do not save, give money with which to buy. This will increase the demand, increase employment, decrease crime and save and everything will be all right.

NEW-RICH OSAGES BUY CATTLE NOW

Wild Spending of Sudden Wealth Stops.

Pawhuska, Okla.—The Osage Indian, who has been groping around trying to find some satisfactory way to spend his oil riches, at last is achieving success.

Where seven years ago the Osage was bewilderedly surveying his tank book and trying to see how fast he could spend his mounting wealth on fancy motor cars, fine clothing and other gewgaws, he now is contentedly building fine homes, buying pure-bred live stock and reaping benefits from his millions.

The shock of sudden wealth, which came when oil wells spouted black gold all over the hill-dotted Osage prairies, foisted the tribe for nearly ten years. The government stepped in with a law restricting the disposal of Indian money to curb the spending orgy.

Two classes of Indians were established by this law—the competent and the incompetent. The competent Indian could draw his full allotment each quarter, while the incompetent could draw only $1,000 of his allotment, the remainder going into a trust fund at Washington.

Under this law there were certain items, however, for which money could be withdrawn from the trust fund. One of these was for the purchase of live stock.

Since January 1 figures at the agency here reveal that more than $30,000 has been allotted to the restricted members of the tribe for the purchase of pure-bred live stock. This, however, is but a small portion of the total expenditure for this purpose, as thousands of dollars have been spent by the competent members of the tribe.

Henry Tall Chief, a full blood, owns one of the finest herds of shorthorns in the state. He has 40 registered head that cost him $12,000. He owns a modern home and is one of the leaders in a movement to interest his tribesmen again in tilling the soil.

Fight for Healthier

Cows Aids Dairy Farms

New York.—Ten years ago the Department of Agriculture inaugurated a campaign against bovine tuberculosis. Opposition was great. What is at least partial success, however, was reported by Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry, at a recent eastern states tuberculosis conference. While almost 1,000,000 dairy cattle out of 30,000,000 head tested have been destroyed because of their tubercular state, the industry today is in better condition than it was in 1917, Doctor Mohler said.

Fear expressed by many persons in the beginning that the campaign would turn the public taste against milk consumption proved unfounded, according to Doctor Mohler, who says the annual consumption of milk in the United States has increased more than forty-nine quarts per capita since 1918. During 1926 the public consumed 56,000,000,000 pounds of milk and cream, an increase of 2,000,000,000 pounds over the quantity consumed in 1925.

Society Girl Heads

Personnel Business

New York.—Miss Jessie Jerome Fanshawe, daughter of the late William S. Fanshawe, banker, and well-known socially, is heading a successful business venture of her own, it was learned.

She maintains a bureau of personal service, with a force of workers. Miss Fanshawe's service is novel in that it does things for people that they ordinarily find troublesome to do themselves. For instance, she will close a town house or apartment, after a family has gone to Europe or Newport, and then set the house in order for their return.

She provides chaperons for debutantes during the season in town, and also fills rush orders from hostesses who are giving dinners either at their town or country residences and who want some form of entertainment.

Recently during a charity drive, Miss Fanshawe was called upon to follow up in some way the appeal that had been made to thousands by letter. She immediately put in three special telephones, engaged girls with "attractive" voices and 5,000 telephone calls were made.

Irish Coins to Portray Pig, Bull, Dog and Hen

Dublin.—A half-crown horse, a florin salmon, a shilling bull, a sixpenny Irish wolfhound, a threepenny hare, a penny hen with brood, a halfpenny pig with litter and a farthing woodcock are the designs emblematic of Ireland's products, which will be seen on the new Irish Free State coins shortly to be issued. But Ireland had to go out of the country for patterns, for a young Yorkshireman designed them.

Afternoon reception Wednesday from WJZ, WEA, WHN and WMCA was almost miraculous and very early evening reception was also excellent. The buzzer is a pest.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—Active bidding for the high priced industrial specialties, more than a score of which established record high prices, again featured today's active stock market. The recovery was halted temporarily around mid-day, when weakness cropped out in a few issues, but was resumed with increased vigor in the early afternoon when the call money rate was marked down to 3 1/2 per cent.

Cotton sold down more than $3 a bale on reports of more favorable weather, but part of the loss was recovered in the sharp afternoon rally. Wheat features advanced a cent a bushel in the early trading, but heavy selling forced the price down 2 cents below the early highs. Heavy buying of the General Motors issues, based on expectations of an unusually favorable August sales report, continued to dominate trading. The old stock was bid up nearly six points to a new high record at 26 1/2, as against the year's low of 14 1/2. Reports that the New Haven and Pennsylvania railroads would be in the market for a large quantity of rails next year brought fresh buying into the steel shares, U. S. Steel common moving into new high ground at 158 1/2.

International Harvester soared nine points to a new top at 236 and active bidding for Allis Chalmers sent that issue up nearly five points to a new maximum at 118. Among the many other issues to break through to new top prices for the year were Liggett and Myers A and B, Reynolds Tobacco B, St. Paul common, Chicago Northwestern, Russia Insurance, Coca Cola and Julius Kayser.

News of the Day In Wall Street

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—Steel output production has dropped about 2 1/2 per cent, now being about 65 per cent of capacity, compared with about 68 per cent a year ago.

Figures covering 72.4 per cent of the sheet steel industry for August, show mechanical operations at 72.1 per cent of capacity; sales, 177,650 net tons; production, 266,545 tons, and shipments, 266,713 tons, the National Association of Sheet Steel Manufacturers reports. Unfilled tonnage on September was 212,662 tons, or about 95 per cent of capacity.

An unusually sharp gain in retail trade last month was the outstanding business development, says Dr. Lewis H. Haney, director of New York University bureau of business research. ORGANIZATION POLITICS INTERESTS G. A. R. VETERANS

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 15 (AP).—Organization politics, temporarily eclipsed by the annual parade of veterans and the "camp fire" session yesterday, flared anew on the convention floor today as the first business session of the G. A. R. national encampment opened. For the office of commander-in-chief, Major General John C. Clem, Washington, D. C., and Elbridge Hawk, Sacramento, Cal., appeared to be the outstanding candidates.

Resolutions, among them a petition by the McLean Post No. 16, Reading, Pa., asking that Memorial Day observances be relinquished by the thinning ranks of the G. A. R. into the hands of patriotic organizations that have long assisted them, will be debated by the delegates. The petition is understood to be in protest against the movement to turn Memorial Day over to the American Legion, which the McLean Post feels is "unfair" to the other veterans' organizations.

Mrs. Maybel Ross of Chicago was elected president of the ladies of the G. A. R.

Palms or Willows
In olden times cakes and flowers were thrown down from the church tower amongst the people on Palm Sunday, followed by a procession march of choristers and clerics bearing palms. There are many entries in the old church accounts for money spent in buying "cakes and palms." There has been much argument as to what the "palms" really were. It is unlikely that they were real palms, except possibly here and there in connection with the more elaborate ceremonies held at the great cathedrals. In the villages and smaller towns it is probable that branches of the flowering willow were extensively used, and this would account for the prevalence of these trees in country churchyards.

Choices in Chess
In the number of possible moves chess stands alone among games, and not only is it safe to say that no living being has ever made, even once, every possible move, but it is highly improbable that in all the centuries of the history of the game has every possible move been made.

The different ways of playing the first four moves on each side are so numerous that if every man, woman and child in a city of 500,000 population were to set to work playing them night and day, it would be more than a year before any one would be able to leave the chessboard.

Better Than Expected
A certain young woman about to be married decided to test her youthful sweetheart, and with this object in view, called on a girl friend.

"I want you to go for a walk with Wallace," she confided, "and at a suitable moment ask him for a kiss."

Her friend blushed, but consented. The following day the bride-to-be called around to see what had happened.

"Did you ask Wallace to kiss you, dear?" she asked.

"I didn't get a chance," was the rather upsetting reply. "He asked me long before I'd thought of it."

Walker Visits Mme. Nungesser

New York Mayor Follows in Footsteps of Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd—Promises New With Check for $5000.

Paris, Sept. 15 (AP).—Mayor James J. Walker, following in the footsteps of Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd, paid a fleeting visit to the mother of Charles Nungesser today and assured her of his own sympathy and that of the great city of which he is chief executive.

He presented her with a check for $500, the remainder of a fund collected in New York by admirers of her aviator son.

"It is a mark of esteem and sympathy of the citizens of New York," the Mayor said, "and at the same time a tribute in memory of the son for whom you weep."

Greatly moved, Madame Nungesser dried her eyes and replied: "You are too good, you Americans."

Then with a touch of bitterness, she added: "You have come to encourage me, but it is my son I want. But I have still hopes that he will return and you will understand my sadness when I think that it is four months since he disappeared."

"I know," she added with a mournful smile, "that at this very moment he knows you have come to visit me and that it makes him happy."

Madame Nungesser then asked, a bit timidly perhaps, if she might embrace her visitor. The mayor, as moved as she, bent tenderly over and with tears in his eyes kissed her gently.

Later Madame Nungesser, with pride shining from her eyes, showed the mayor through the workshop where her son had planned his great adventure which ended so tragically, and showed him souvenirs of his work.
